Alfdex aftermarket kits

The crankcase ventilation system from Alfdex with its patented technology first started being equipped by the Volvo Group and Daimler in 2006. Since then over 5 million units have been sold globally.

The aftermarket kits have been developed to reach all these brands. They are shelf-ready products with installation instructions. The product is of equal quality as the units it replaces. Alfdex is a durable product; however with high mileage the components could wear out. We have detected a growing demand for replacement-parts from the OE's. The kits are only available through the independent aftermarket channel.
